Eight-Year-Old Dies In Mobile Home Fire Here

CHARED REMAINS — A fire Wednesday night in this trailer claimed the life of eight-year-old Robert Clay Swift of Kirksey. Don and Kay Swift.

parents of the deceased and owners of the trailer, were unable to get the boy out but were able to rescue their other son, Randy, 7.

Parents Hospitalized With Injuries; Brother Treated And Released

An eight-year-old Kirksey boy was killed in a fire which destroyed the trailer home of his parents and injured three other members of his family Wednesday night.

Robert Clay Swift, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Swift, was pronounced dead at the scene on Kirksey Highway 299 at 10:15 p.m. by Calloway County Coroner Tommy Walker. The death was probably the result of smoke inhalation, according to Walker.

When the Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad answered the call at 9:48 p.m., the trailer had already burned to the ground.

The fire apparently started in the middle of the trailer. The parents broke the window out of their bedroom, located at one end of the trailer, and tried to reach their two sons in their bedrooms at the other end. They were successful in rescuing seven-year-old Randy.

Kay Swift, the boy's mother, is listed in fair to poor condition today in the intensive care unit at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. She has lacerations to the left calf and smoke inhalation. Swift is in satisfactory condition where he is being treated for smoke inhalation. The other son, Randy, was treated and released.

The cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Robert Clay Swift, born Oct. 23, 1970, was a student at North Elementary School. In addition to his parents, Donald Clay and Kay Tucker Swift, and brother, he is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Headley A. Swift of Kirksey and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tucker.

The J. H. Churchill Funeral Home has charge of the arrangements which will be announced later.

Annual Spring Clean-Up To Begin March 19 In City

The annual citywide spring clean-up and beautification will begin March 19, according to Ray Clark, city street superintendent.

Clark has divided the city into five sections, and two days will be allowed for each section's collection as shown in the map on page 12.

Sections of town to be covered on March 19-20 is Industrial Road to 12th Street and from Main Street to the north city limits; March 21-22, North 12th Street to North 20th Street and from Main Street north to the city limits; March 23 and 24, Railroad Avenue to South 12th Street and from Main to Glendale Road; March 27-28, South 12th Street to South 16th Street and from Main to the south city limits; and March 29-30, South 16th Street to west city limits and from Main to the south city limits.

All tree and shrub trimmings should be stacked in neat piles no more than six feet long and six inches in diameter, Clark said. Leaves, grass, weeds and small trimmings must be placed in plastic bags in order to be picked up.

Clark emphasized that this is a one-time free pickup and that it will not be necessary to call for service. Those having further questions or desiring additional information may call the street department at 753-3790.

Court Order Stymies Takeover Of Tobacco Association Office

The planned takeover of the Western Dark Fired Tobacco Association's offices here by a group of member-growers of the association was thwarted Wednesday by a court order.

The group of about 45 grower-members of the association, which claims it has taken over the association by voting to unseat nine of the 11 directors of the association, decided at a meeting in Mayfield Tuesday night to attempt to oust Holmes Ellis, general manager of the association for 22 years, from his position.

The members of the group attempting the takeover met in Mayfield February 21 of this year and voted to remove the present officers of the association with the exception of those from districts eight and nine which were not represented at the meeting.

The following day Ellis, who the group agreed to retain as general manager if he "cooperated" with the new officers, termed their action "illegal" and not in accordance with the association's bylaws. Ellis and association attorney Wm. Donald Overbey met with the contingent on Feb. 22 and explained their position on the matter.

Ellis and Overbey have both maintained since that time that the action taken by the group was invalid and that the original directors and officers of the association are still legally in office.

James Wilson, a tobacco grower from Fancy Farm in Graves County, acted as spokesman for the unhappy grower-members of the association during Wednesday's confrontation. Wilson was named president of the association replacing Leonard Grief of Paducah by the group at its meeting in February. "I am the newly elected president," Wilson told Ellis Wednesday, "... we are legally coming over her to take over the building."

Ellis then asked Wilson if he "had a court order" and Wilson replied: "We do not need one."

Ellis told Wilson that he would not leave voluntarily and someone in the crowd shouted "fire him and let's get on with it."

"I have advised him (Ellis) and I will tell you grower members that he can only be removed from office by the presently constituted board of directors," Overbey said to the dissatisfied growers.

After several minutes of discussion,

Overbey asked Ellis if he wanted him to proceed in seeking a court injunction and Ellis said "yes." Overbey then left the building and went to the Calloway County Courthouse where Circuit Judge James M. Lassiter issued the restraining order.

Meanwhile, the discussion between the growers dissatisfied over this year's tobacco prices, Ellis, and other board members continued.

"Nothing you have done is legal," Greif told the group. "I am still president until August," he said.

"You will be removed before August," Wilson replied.

Ellis attempted to explain the reason for the low tobacco prices this year, saying the "producers over-produced."

"We are using 37 million to 38 million pounds of fire-cured (tobacco) annually," Ellis said, "and you produced 50 million pounds this year."

Wendel Edwards of Clarksville, Tenn., a member of the Eastern Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association, maintained that the meeting held by the Western Association member growers recently was legal and that "those elected at that meeting are now the directors of the association."

Ellis told the group that he plans to continue as general manager until the board of directors fires him or "I make the choice (to retire)."

When asked by a member of the group why he wants to stay "when you know you're not wanted?" Ellis replied, "I have a lot of support ... at the present time I believe I have the support of 80 percent of the members (of the association)."

Ellis, in an interview outside the offices Wednesday, estimated that presently there are 3,000 to 4,000 members of the association in West Kentucky and West Tennessee who are actively growing tobacco at this time. Wilson, asked the same question, estimated the figure to be around 1,500. Wilson said Tuesday's meeting in Mayfield was attended by about 75 grower-members.

The restraining order was read to the group by Calloway County Sheriff Max Morris and about an hour later, the group dispersed from the premises.

Wilson said the group plans to hire legal counsel of its own and he expects they will seek a counter-restraining order that will, if granted, prohibit Ellis and the other board members from using the headquarters building.

The net effect of such action, according to sources, would be that the building would be padlocked until the court determines which group legally is in control of the association.

Wilson could not be reached this morning but according to a spokesman, he and members of his group are scheduled to meet with an attorney this afternoon to plan their next move. Earlier reports that the group had retained local attorney Gary Haverstock to represent them were incorrect.

The dark-fired markets in both the Western and Eastern districts have been in turmoil since sales were supposed to begin in January. Sales did not start in Hopkinsville, the Kentucky market for the eastern district crop, due to action of growers dissatisfied with prices.

Hospital Board To Hear Construction Report Tonight

The Murray-Calloway County Hospital Board will hear a report on the hospital construction from Stuart Poston, hospital administrator, and will consider the annual budget at its regular monthly meeting tonight.

The meeting will be at 7:15 p.m. in the hospital board room. Meetings are open to the public.

Fiscal Court Amends Annual Budget Wednesday

The Calloway County Fiscal Court held its regular meeting at 1 p.m. yesterday in the office of Robert O. Miller, county judge-executive.

The annual budget for the fiscal year 1978-79 was amended to include the following unbudgeted receipts, CETA Projects, $88,372.63; TVA payments, $24,500 and surplus, $150,000. The following budgeted accounts were increased: court house repairs, $20,000; juvenile, $500; airport, $4,000; CETA Projects, $88,372.63; road labor, $50,000 and road materials and supplies, $100,000.

The members discussed the practice of county farmers who plow in through the ditches and turn their farm equipment on the roads. They added that an effort would be made this year to prosecute farmers who fill up ditches along the county roads.

Miller stated that $5,000 was allocated to the budget as long as it was to be spent in the city limits. He suggested that the money go to hire farmers to shovel snow off roads and grate roads. After some discussion, no motion was passed. However, Miller said the court would consider the matter later.

Gil Hopson donated 15 loads of coal mix to the city in order to repair potholes in city roads.

Leasing a backhoe was also discussed. No motion was passed.

Egyptian Cabinet Reviews Peace Pact

By The Associated Press

The Egyptian Cabinet met today to review the proposed Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty as Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman flew to Washington to complete military details of the agreement. Radio Israel said Israeli troops killed two Palestinians, including a schoolgirl, and wounded another Palestinian protesting the pact.

Sources in Cairo said Egyptian Defense Minister Kamal Hassan Ali, before leaving for Washington Friday to join Weizman, was briefing the cabinet on the current disposition of Israeli and Egyptian forces in the Sinai Peninsula and the various phases of Israel's withdrawal from the territory being returned to Egypt.

The cabinet's approval of the proposed peace treaty was considered a certainty, and President Anwar Sadat did not attend the meeting. He remained in seclusion in his villa beside the Nile north of Cairo but was expected to brief top officials of his National Democratic Party on Saturday.

Sadat is to submit the treaty to the Egyptian Parliament, but approval there is also certain.

The two defense ministers are expected to spend about two days in Washington winding up the military annex spelling out such specifics as the

HEALTH

Boiled would be better

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Some years ago I read in a British medical journal that raw eggs were unsafe for human consumption because of a substance they contained known as avidin, which has a devastating effect on the vitamins and minerals in the human body. Recently on some TV commercials I observed that raw eggs added to beverages or drinks were being recommended. May I know what your opinion is about using raw eggs?

DEAR READER — If you want my personal opinion, just looking at a raw egg would be enough to keep me from adding it to any drink. The feel of the raw egg white doesn't tickle my palate, either.

But I suspect you want my professional opinion. There is some basis of truth in your letter, although I'm afraid it is a little exaggerated. The relationship of raw eggs to vitamin deficiencies is based on the egg white and not the yolk. The raw egg white contains an anti-vitamin called avidin. It is able to inactivate biotin which is a vitamin and is important in human metabolism. In fact, biotin was first discovered because of the effects of feeding raw egg whites to rats. Fortunately, we are not rats so we don't have as much of the same problem.

Now, raw egg white will not affect any of the other vitamins or minerals that you consume. That's what I mean by saying your letter does exaggerate the case a bit.

In man, you'd have to consume a lot of raw egg whites to produce such an effect. Biotin deficiency can cause loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting, a shiny tongue, pale complexion, depression and dry, scaly skin.

We don't normally see biotin deficiencies in man. Why? Because the bacteria normally present in our own intestine manufactures it. In fact, there is so much biotin manufactured in your own intestines that there is three to six times as much biotin in the urine you eliminate as there is in all the food you eat.

Even though I'm not really worried that a few raw egg whites are going to cause vitamin or mineral deficiency in anyone, I do not really approve of their use. Incidentally, the avidin in egg whites is inactivated by cooking.

Eggs are a good food for bacteria. Raw eggs can be a good source for salmonella food poisoning. So I think it is best that all of the eggs we eat be cooked, at least sufficiently to destroy the harmful bacteria that might be present in the raw state.

This is not just an indictment of raw eggs, for that reason. Many of our food sources, including the meat group, are potential breeding and growing places for germs. The development of cooking habits has done a lot more for man than just please his palate. Boiling water has historically been one of the best ways to prevent the spread of water-borne diseases.

For information on what vitamins and minerals you should have, send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for The Health Letter number 4-6, Balanced Diet, Recommended Daily Dietary Allowances (RDA). Address your request to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Festival-Contest In Music Is Held

The annual regional Piano Festival-Contest for junior-high and senior high-school pianists, sponsored by the Kentucky Music Teachers Association, was held Saturday, March 10, in the Fine Arts Complex of Murray State University.

Participating from Murray were Mark Hussung, Brenda Conley, Audrey Conley, Carol Sears, and Deena Dalley. Also appearing in the Festival were Lisa Hunter, Farmington, Leslie Poole, Benton, and students from Paducah and Madisonville.

The K.M.T.A. Piano Festival requires that each student perform a selection by a Baroque composer and another selection chosen from a required repertoire list, and take a written examination in theory. Each sophomore or junior entrant who received a superior rating is eligible to enter the State K.M.T.A. contest which will be held at the time of the State convention in Morehead in November. The two entrants qualifying for this event were Miss Dalley, Murray and Miss Joan Cmarik of Paducah.

Receiving superior ratings in the junior division were Mark Hussung and Lisa Hunter.

Miss Sherry Smith Honored At Coffee At Branch Bank

Miss Sherry Smith who will be married to Tommy Mohon on Saturday, March 17, at 7 p.m. at the Murray Woman's Club House, was honored with a bridal coffee held Saturday, March 3, at the University Branch of the Bank of Murray.

Corsages of white and yellow chrysanthemums were presented to the honoree, Miss Smith; her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Smith; and her aunt, Mrs. Dave Hopkins. They received the guests.

The register was kept by Mrs. Michael Ryan.

The guests were served at a beautifully decorated table covered with a white hand-made lace cloth over yellow linen and centered with a basket of spring flowers in many colors.

Coffee, spiced tea, dainty cakes, pastries, and sandwiches were served from silver appointments.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Voris Wells, Joe Pat Cohoon, William Read, Paul Grogan, Howard Koenen, Edwin Stokes, Michael Ryan, Larry Boaz, Charles Simons, Johnny Reagan, W. Z. Carter, Bailey Gore, A. G. Wilson, Bennie Simmons, Rubin James, and Claud Miller.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

A Life in Need Of a Hope-Buoy

DEAR ABBY: I am 40 and my life is worth absolutely nothing. This is not just middle-age depression. I've been this way all my life. I have failed in every relationship I've ever had, beginning with my family while growing up.

I was a complete failure as a wife, too. (I cannot have children, but I probably would have failed as a mother, too.) I have failed in the business world also. I can't seem to succeed in anything.

I have really tried, Abby, but everything I do ends in failure. Suicide seems to be the only solution. Please don't tell me I need a psychiatrist. I have been going to the same one every week for 14 years, and he hasn't helped me. If he had, I wouldn't feel this way.

Other than suicide, is there any answer for someone who is so hopelessly miserable?

I guess maybe I'm trying to find some reason to go on living because I'm really afraid to die. Please help me.

DISCOURAGED IN ARLINGTON

DEAR DISCOURAGED: Your letter tells me that you DO have hope and WANT to live.

If your doctor hasn't been able to help you after 14 years of weekly treatment, ask him to refer you to another therapist.

Please write again in two weeks, and tell me how you feel.

DEAR ABBY: My husband had too much to drink last night and confessed that the reason he bought me a lovely overnight bag for Valentine's Day was because he'd bought one for his girlfriend, and he felt guilty. Now I don't even want the bag.

What do you think?

B.J. IN WASHINGTON, N.C.

DEAR B.J.: I think you husband should quit drinking and looking at bags.

DEAR ABBY: My mother recently remarried and told us she was selling the family farm. Because my sisters and brothers (and I) loved the farm so much, we asked her to sell it to us to keep it in the family.

Without telling any of us, my mother sold the farm to a total stranger!

Abby, we are all so hurt that we are going out of our way to avoid seeing or talking to our mother.

I feel guilty about avoiding my own mother, but I just can't bring myself to forgive her. The others feel the same way.

Can you or one of your readers who has experienced the same situation help us?

Right now, I don't care if I never talk to my mother again.

DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: See your mother and ask her to explain her actions and talk about her feelings frankly. Don't judge her until you have all the facts.

DEAR ABBY: Can a girl get pregnant from kissing with her mouth open?

CONNIE IN ANCHORAGE

DEAR CONNIE: No. But it's a good beginning.

Wedding bells in your future? Whether your lifestyle is bridal gown or blue jeans, Abby lays it all out for you in her booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Howards Are Speakers At Alpha Meet

Guest speakers at the luncheon meeting of the Alpha Department of the Murray Woman's Club held on Saturday, Feb. 24, at 12 noon at the club house were Dr. and Mrs. Robert Howard.

Dr. Howard is an associate professor in the Communications Department at Murray State University. Mrs. Howard teaches French in the Murray City School. Each gives their students first hand experiences by taking tours in the European countries during the summer months.

The Howards showered slides and explained the many interesting experiences in the countries visited on their tours. Their topic chosen for the day was "The Cultural Aspect of Travel and Study."

Dr. Mildred Hatcher, department chairman, presided. Mrs. Muri Robertson gave the invocation preceding the luncheon.

Hostesses were Mrs. Wayne Williams, Mrs. Rue Overby, Mrs. Sylvia Atkins, Mrs. R. A. Johnston, and Mrs. Lula White.

1 cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon solid white vegetable shortening
1 large egg yolk

1/4 cup milk
Unsalted chicken broth
Salt and pepper to taste

Stir together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening until particles are fine. Beat egg yolk and milk to blend; with a fork gradually stir into flour mixture and form into a ball. (You may have to add a teaspoon or so of milk to have dough hold together.)

Wrap tightly in saran and chill for a few hours or overnight. On a pastry cloth with a stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out one-half the dough to a 9 1/2-inch square. Cut into six 1 1/2-inch wide strips. With a kitchen scissors snip each strip into 1/4-inch wide dumplings. Treat remaining half of dough the same way. In a large saucepot bring 2 quarts chicken broth to a rolling boil; add dumplings and stir. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, until dumplings are very tender and broth reduced and thickened — 40 minutes. If you want more broth, add some along with salt and pepper.

Historic Awards Will Be Presented

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Gov. Julian Carroll has announced that the Kentucky Heritage Commission will present the first awards for significant achievement in historic preservation in Kentucky. The awards will be presented during May — Historic Preservation Month.

The major award — the Ida Lee Willis Memorial Award — will be given to an individual who has shown the greatest dedication to Kentucky's preservation objectives. The award will be given to honor the memory of the founder and first executive director of the Kentucky Heritage Commission, Ida Lee Willis, wife of former Governor Simeon Willis.

Awards will be given in six other categories to recognize meritorious contributions to the aims and objectives of historic preservation. Each of the following categories will be presented awards: commercial, organization, professional, youth, public service, and media.

According to Frank G. Rankin, chairman of the Kentucky Heritage Commission, nominations are open in all seven areas. Nominations must include specific documentation of the nominee's achievements in order to qualify. Deadline for nominations is April 30, 1979. The commission reserves the right to withhold an award in any category if no nominee meets required standards. Current members of the Kentucky Heritage Commission are not eligible for nomination.

Gov. Carroll granted $2,500 from his contingency fund toward the Heritage Commission's $15,000 goal. The commission has established a nonprofit corporation to arrange for a one-time fund-raising. The funds will be placed in a special account and used to perpetuate the annual awards. "The purpose of the awards is to promote, encourage, and recognize meritorious achievement by individuals or groups in preservation of cultural and historical resources in Kentucky," said Eldred W. Melton, executive director of the commission.

Information regarding the awards or the nomination process may be obtained by writing Eldred W. Melton, Executive Director, Kentucky Heritage Commission, 104 Bridge Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Donations Are Made By Zi Alpha Chapter

The Zi Alpha Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met on Thursday, March 1, at the Ellis Community Center.

During the business meeting the sisters voted to donate working time to the special Olympics, toys to the Pediatric Wing of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, yellow rose bushes to the Community Center, and money to Need Line.

Mrs. Mary Graves and Mrs. Glenda Wilson were hostesses for a baby shower for Mrs. Debbie Villafior.

Other members present included Mesdames Ila Mae Brown, Barbara Chilcutt, Rheanetta Coleman, Linda Cochran, Joyce Thomas, Barbara Williams, Vicki Holton, Debbie Lyons, Lois Ruiz, Peggy Graves, Linda Knight, Norma Omelanuk, and Joyce Nunnally.

TIGHT COVER

Miss Collins Married To Mr. Prescott At Church

Miss Diane Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Collins of Murray Route 5, and Mark Prescott, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Prescott of Hazel Route 1, were married in a winter evening ceremony at the Blood River Missionary Baptist Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Jerry Norsworthy. A program of piano music was presented by Mrs. Martha Norsworthy. Selections were "Each Step I Take," "I Do Not Ask," "Love Story," and "Love Is the Key." Mrs. Linda Lester sang "You Light Up My Life."

The vows were exchanged under an arch trimmed with blue ribbons, baby's breath, and two white doves. The church was decorated in ice blue to blend with the bride's choice of colors.

Bride's Dress

The bride wore a floor length gown of satin organza and reembroidered-Alencon lace. Elegant simplicity was featured in the Alfred Angelo gown. The lace formed the high neckline and fashioned the flounce which encircled the half moon yoke of the bodice. More lace softly cuffed the long fitted sleeves, defined the waistline, and twice bordered the hemline flounce of the demi-heel skirt and detachable chapel length train.

She carried a bouquet fashioned of white button flowers, baby's breath, and miniature ice blue silk flowers.

Mrs. Linda Miller, cousin of the bride, served as her matron of honor. Miss Barbara Mattox and Miss Beverly Green served as bridesmaids. Each attendant wore an empire waist floor length gown of blue polyester with a chiffon mini-train and carried one blue long stemmed carnation.

Gary Miller served as best man for the groom. Jimmy Norsworthy and Teddy Garland served as groomsmen. The groom and his attendants wore ice-blue tuxedos.

Carol Hodges served as flower girl. Her floor length blue dress was trimmed with white lace. She carried a white basket filled with daisies and baby's breath and trimmed with ice blue ribbon.

The bride's mother wore a vested blue floor length dress and a white orchid corsage.

Jeff Norsworthy was the photographer.

Reception

Following the ceremony the reception was held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Norsworthy. The reception table was covered with a white cloth trimmed at the corners with ice blue ribbons and centered with a centerpiece flanked by candles. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom statuette.

An assortment of nuts and mints were served along with punch.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott are now residing at their home on Murray Route 5.

Tribute To Glenn Miller Is Planned

A special tribute to the late Glenn Miller and his music will be presented on WKMS-FM, the fine arts radio service of Murray State University, on March 27 to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the birth of the band leader.

Scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. at 91.3 on the FM dial, the program will include some of the most familiar melodies made popular by Miller — "Blueberry Hill," " Chattanooga Choo Choo," "Moonlight Serenade," and "That Old Black Magic." Background information on his life and musical style will also be a part of the program.

The Glenn Miller tribute will be presented as part of a weekly series on WKMS entitled "Music of the Big Bands." Bruce Smith will be the host for the program.

Miller was a big name in music, particularly during the swing era from about 1936 until his death in 1944 while flying the English Channel with the Army Air Force. He was especially well known for a radio series called "We Sustain the Wings."

Murray & Etherton Vows Read March 2

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Linda Jean Murray, daughter of M.B. Murray of Route 2, Buchanan, Tenn., and Daniel B. Etherton, son of Dr. and Mrs. V. W. Etherton of Route 1, Puryear, Tenn.

The ceremony was solemnized on Friday, March 2, at the Etherton home with Dr. Etherton performing the service at 2 p.m. in the presence of the families.

Miss Crystle Etherton sister of the groom, and Michael Murray, brother of the bride, were the attendants for the couple.

A reception followed the ceremony. The couple spent the weekend at Lake Barkley Lodge and are now at home in Puryear, Tenn.

It is with pleasure that we announce that Sherry Nolin, bride-elect of Jerry McClain has selected her pottery from our complete bridal registry. Sherry and Jerry will be married April 7, 1979.

Special Care--

Suede And Leather Garments Need Extra Care To Extend Their Life

Taking special care of suede and leather garments extends the life of the garments, advises University of Kentucky clothing Extension specialist Jo Ann Hilliker.

Hilliker says care should be taken in wearing and storing leathers and suedes and in cleaning them.

She suggests wearing a scarf to protect the neckline of garments from makeup, hair oils and perspiration. And she advises against decorating leather garments with pin-type jewelry which punches holes that are irreparable.

"Don't store garments made of or trimmed with suede or grain leather in a warm, airless places or in a plastic bag," says Hilliker.

She explains that suede and grain leathers must breathe to avoid drying out and losing their vital tannery oils and becoming prone to shrinkage.

When drying suede or grain leather that is wet from rain or other causes, dry at room temperature, flex the garment often, and in the case of suede, brush with a rubber sponge or soft-bristled brush, the specialist suggests.

Suedes and leathers also require special care when being cleaned.

Most importantly, "Never allow garments made of or trimmed with suede or grain leather to become too soiled before having them cleaned," Hilliker urges.

Cleaning fluids, saddle soaps, wire brushes, steel wool or other abrasives should not be used to remove stains and spots, according to Hilliker who says such methods usually result in ugly rings, discoloration and other damage.

Dye stains, such as lipstick, ballpoint and other inks are best removed by a leather cleaning specialist.

Oily and greasy stains should be treated immediately by blotting with an absorbent cloth to pick up excess grease, then cleaned by a specialist.

"Spots caused by spillage of foodstuff, milk, fruit juices, coffee, tea or colas are best removed before they dry," says Hilliker. A soft cloth dampened in cool water will remove many water-soluble stains, she notes.

She suggests using a patting or blotting procedure, feathering out and blotting the worked area with a clean turkish towel and letting the soiled garment dry at room temperature. The garment should be flexed frequently while drying and brushed thoroughly when dry.

For stains caused by fruit juices, coffee, tea and colas which contain reducing sugars, and for perfume and other liquids containing alcohol, this immediate attention should be followed by cleaning by a leather specialist as soon as possible, says Hilliker.

Smooth leather garments can be surface cleaned by using a sponge or soft cloth dampened in water containing a small amount of mild soap suds. Wipe the surface clean, then dry with a clean turkish towel.

smooth leather may be pressed — as can suede garments — with an iron set at the lowest temperature, using no steam. Hilliker says to use a press cloth or heavy brown paper between the garment and iron, pressing one panel at a time and keeping the iron moving constantly.

Upon completion, suede garments should be brushed thoroughly to raise the nap.

Hilliker says suede garments should be brushed frequently, using a dry, soft-bristled brush or professional suede rubber sponge. The brushing of areas touching the skin will remove surface oil and add luster to the suede.

"If properly cared for, suede and leather garments should last for years," says the specialist.

Music Students Presented In Recital

The Murray Music Teachers Association presented a record number of students in the annual winter recital of piano students which recognizes the accomplishments of their "advanced" students — those who have continued their study to the level that they can perform music of the great masters.

Included in the program were selections representative of the major styles of composition from Baroque to Contemporary.

Performing music from the Baroque era were Karen Hainsworth, Audrey Conley, and Carol Sears.

The Classic era was represented by Teresa Ford, Kathy Walston, and Mark Hussung.

Deena Dailey, and Stacey

Overbey played music from the Romantic period, and Amy Noffsinger and Lisa Hunter performed music composed in the Impressionistic style.

Music composed during the twentieth century was performed by Judy French, John Bowen, Brenda Conley and Leslie Poole.

Piano teachers whose students appeared in the recital are Maxine Clark, Shirley Johnson, Dot Mason, Susan McKeever, Carol Thompson, and Norinne Winter.

Use Sunday's color comics as wrapping paper for children's gifts. Kids like it better than fancy paper, and it's cheaper.

FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 16, 1979

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) ♈
Don't keep secrets from close ones now. Chances are private schemes will backfire. Defer judgment re a business venture.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) ♉
You are easily distracted now. Keeping in touch with others may be your excuse to avoid work. A confusing note marks the p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) ♊
Not the time to impress higher-ups with tales about your adventures. Avoid extravagance and grandiose gestures. Return to earth.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) ♋
There may be a mix-up re guests from afar. Someone at home may not wish to have company. Avoid self-indulgence in the p.m.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) ♌
Creative efforts will be marred if practical considerations predominate. In other words, finish the project before worrying about financial return.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) ♍
Possible tension re finances with a mate or close ally.

Friendships prove expensive. Daydreaming impedes concentration.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) ♎
Higher-ups may seem patronizing and co-workers antagonistic on this day when you're a bit too sensitive. Watch carelessness with possessions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) ♏
There seems to be no escape from pesky involvements with others right now. The privacy you seek may not be forthcoming.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) ♐
Efforts to satisfy both friends and family members do not work according to plan. Later, you'll feel like being left alone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) ♑
Avoid an angry exchange of words with a higher-up. Efforts to cut red tape appear doomed to fail. Don't buck the system.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) ♒
If traveling, safeguard possessions and avoid excess spending. Don't gossip about business with friends. Retain confidences.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) ♓
Leave your personality out of financial negotiations now. Things run smoothly with a sober approach to business. Accent practicalities.

YOU BORN TODAY are analytical and at times aloof. Though attracted by the arts, you're better suited to business. You'd prefer to work for yourself than with others and can succeed in law, science, geology and transportation industries. More independent than the typical Piscean, if you'll strive for originality, you'll be a leader in your field. Don't let a desire for financial success keep you from developing natural abilities. Literature, acting, music, and banking are other occupations in which you'll find happiness.

Risks Result From Artificial Insemination

By DANIEL Q. MANEY
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Doctors who practice artificial insemination sometimes use the sperm of one man to impregnate dozens of women, raising the danger of accidental incest among offspring who unknowingly have the same father, a study warns.

The report also chastises doctors for failing to ensure that the men who donate sperm are genetically healthy so that the risk of birth defects will be as low as possible. The study, prepared by researchers at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, estimates that between 6,000 and 10,000 children are born in the United States each year to women who are made pregnant with sperm from anonymous donors.

The investigators surveyed 379 doctors who practice artificial insemination. Their results were published in today's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine. The researchers said their survey was the first major one on artificial insemination since 1941.

The study found that over 95 percent of the women who receive artificial insemination do so because their husbands are sterile. However, 10 percent of the doctors said they also provide the service for single women.

Three-quarters of the doctors said they never use the sperm of one man to father more than six babies. However, 6 percent said they had used one donor for 15 or more pregnancies, and one doctor replied that one man had produced 50 children.

The doctors keep secret the identities of men donating sperm, and this can lead to inadvertent inbreeding, the researchers said.

"This complication can occur if two people mated who unknowingly shared the same genetic father or if a recipient was inseminated with the semen of a relative," the researchers wrote.

Doctors use sperm from donors who are the same race and build as the recipient's husband.

"A single donor may make a large contribution to a local ethnic community," they said. "Intra-marriage within such a community would result in increased inbreeding due to artificial insemination."

The researchers said most doctors screen sperm donors for genetically transmitted defects, such as Tay-Sachs disease and the sickle cell trait, by questioning them about family histories. But only 29 percent of the doctors performed any tests on the men, and these were primarily for communicable diseases.

"I think more screening should be done than the average practitioner is performing," Dr. Sander Shapiro, one of the researchers, said in an interview. "The average practitioner who just grabs the closest male available is doing less than adequate service to his patients."

Most sperm is donated by medical students and hospital-affiliated doctors. However, some physicians said they also acquired it from patients' husbands or their personal friends.

Russellville Publisher Declines Appointment

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Publisher Al Smith says he has declined a presidential appointment to be federal co-chairman of a new Mid-South Regional Commission.

The panel will coordinate plans for federal assistance for non-Appalachian counties in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi. It is among three multi-state commissions authorized by Congress last fall.

Smith said he advised the White House he prefers to remain with his newspaper business and activities such as the chairmanship of the Kentucky Arts Commission, Kentucky Oral History Commission and membership on the Council of Supervisors of the University of Kentucky hospital.

He also moderates a weekly program on politics and government for Kentucky Educational Television.

"I didn't want to give up my present activities," he said.

The Mid-South chairmanship has the same federal rank as an assistant Cabinet secretary and pays $50,000 a year.

Smith, 52, confirms he was offered the appointment in February.

Smith earlier had been suggested for a place on the Tennessee Valley Authority board.

Smith said he would have been willing to take the TVA post, but it went to Bob Clement of Tennessee.

"TVA is something I know a great deal about and I have had a lifetime interest in its projects," he said. "If I had been offered a TVA appointment I would have been ready to set aside my business interests."

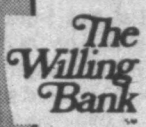

Smith publishes five weekly or biweekly newspapers in Kentucky and one in Tennessee, including the Russellville News-Democrat and the Logan Leader.

When Judy, Jane and Barbara don their Girl Scout uniforms, they are not merely putting on different clothes. They are becoming part of a worldwide crusade for health, mental stimulus and good citizenship which builds character and fine womanhood. So we salute the Girl Scouts of this community and wherever they may be participating in their expertly directed movement. They have fun, bless them, and with it all they learn to use their hands, their youthful heads . . . and above all, their innocent hearts. # Board To Attempt To Speed Beverly Hills Claims

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The state Board of Claims will make another effort in May to speed up handling of claims arising from the 1977 Beverly Hills Supper Club fire, after failing to agree with attorneys on procedures.

About 15 attorneys representing claimants met with the board Wednesday but could not agree on a way to expedite action on the claims.

At their request, the board said it would schedule another meeting in northern Kentucky in early May.

Some 250 claims have been filed with the board in connection with the May 28 fire that killed 165 persons and injured another 50.

The attorneys discussed different approaches — such as consolidating all cases, trying one or more representative cases before the board or handling them on an individual basis.

"Like most rooms full of lawyers, it was difficult to find one to agree with himself," Robin Griffin of Lexington told the board after the attorneys met privately for about 30 minutes.

Griffin said they were "leaning toward simplification rather than individual trials" but that they could not agree on procedures because some attorneys needed to check with co-counsel in their cases.

Assistant Attorney General Victor Fox said the board should determine whether state officials were liable in the case before examining any other issues.

He said the Commonwealth believes that a recent Kentucky Supreme Court decision is applicable that held the city of Southgate and the state not liable for negligence in connection with the fatal fire.

"It would be cheapest to determine this issue, get it resolved with finality and go on from there," Fox said.

"If we find there was no duty, there would be no need to go any further," he added.

Several attorneys argued that the board needs additional facts before deciding the question of liability in any of the cases, but Fox questioned the need for further evidence, saying the Supreme Court decision was sufficient.

Escum Moore of Lexington said Fox's suggestion that the board decide liability only on the basis of the Supreme Court decision was ridiculous, and that it could in effect wipe out the whole Board of Claims.

William Bertelsman of Newport said the board could not decide whether the Supreme Court case is applicable in a vacuum.

"You have to have some evidence as to what individual employees did," he said. For example, evidence that showed a state employee misled the nightclub owner in advising him he was in compliance with state fire codes, he said.

Bertelsman, who handled the case before the Supreme Court, said the justices were reluctant to impose an unlimited liability on Kentucky taxpayers, whereas there is a limit on awards decided by the Board of Claims.

Two Miners Die When Rock Slide Collapses State Mine

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP) — Two miners died and a third was pulled to safety after a rock slide collapsed a part of the roof in the Upper Taggart coal mine at Owen Fork in Letcher County, authorities said today.

One of the bodies was removed about midnight, two hours after the accident, and the other about 6:30 a.m. today. The third miner trapped by the collapse was rescued about 4 a.m.

The district supervisor for the state Department of Mines and Minerals at Hazard, Albert Alexander, said eight other men were in the crew but escaped the fall. It occurred about 1½ miles inside the entrance of the mine owned by Blue Diamond Coal Co.

Cause of the collapse was not known immediately.

The dead were identified as a foreman, Grant Sturgill, 45, of Blair, and Ernest Statzer, 38, of Eolia.

The rescued miner was identified as Larkin Napier Sr., 30, of Wallins. Napier was taken to the Lynch Medical Services clinic, where officials said he was found to be uninjured and was released.

Alexander described Upper Taggart as a high production mine with 150 employees.

Nine men from the State Department of Mines and Minerals and three from the federal mine office were dispatched to assist in the rescue work.

The Upper Taggart mine is on Black Mountain, about two miles from Blue Diamond's Scotia No. 1 mine, where 26 men died in two underground methane gas explosions in March 1976.

The Upper Taggart was closed after the rockslide, and Alexander said it would remain closed until after the investigation. "Everything will be left as it is until after our investigation," he said.

He said the investigation would determine "the full size of the fall, the cause and if anything could have been done to prevent it."

Alexander said the survivor, Napier, was trapped for about 6½ hours in all. The fall occurred about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, and he was pulled to safety at 4 a.m.

Napier had room to move around, but was cut off from safety by the fall, Alexander said.

The two victims died of being crushed by falling rock, Alexander said.

The state and federal rescue teams, along with Blue Diamond rescue personnel, had to work carefully to make their access route safe as they tried to reach the three miners, Alexander said. He said the rock was still unsettled and showing signs of more collapse as they moved in.

The victims were on the 3:30-to-11:30 p.m. shift and had only an hour to go before they were to have left the mine, said Alexander.

He said the Upper Taggart was two miles straight up from the Scotia No. 1 mine, on the same mountain but in a higher seam of coal.

Miners at the Upper Taggart are not represented by the United Mine Workers union, he said.

State May Help Rebuild City Hall

GRAYSON, Ky. (AP) — The city of Grayson has been advised that state financial help can be available to rebuild the city hall.

Aides in Gov. Julian Carroll's office have told a Grayson delegation that the state first wants to know what the city is willing to put into the project.

The Municipal Building burned in February, 1978.

Hopkinsville Woman Killed In Accident

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 79-year-old Hopkinsville woman, Flossie D. Croft, is dead as a result of a traffic accident at Hopkinsville's Pennyrile Mall.

Officers said Mrs. Croft was pulling out of the mall in her car Tuesday afternoon when she drove into the path of a tractor-trailer rig. The driver of the rig, Raymond Power Jr., 38, Gentryville, Ind., was not injured.

No one else was in the car with Mrs. Croft, who died at the scene.

Diphtheria antitoxin was first used on humans in 1891.

Odlin, Warren Find National Honors Don't Necessarily Mean Recognition

By TONY WILSON
Sports Editor

Both Jerry Odlin and David Warren admits it's tough to stay motivated sometimes, especially after the reaction to their accomplishments last weekend.

Odlin and Warren, sophomores on the Murray State track team, were both named All-America after stellar performances in the 15th annual NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships at Cobo Arena in Detroit.

Warren finished fourth in the mile run with a 4:09, while Odlin was fourth in the three-mile run in 13:41. The top six finishers in each event were awarded All-America status.

"No one seemed to really care around here," says Odlin, like Warren, a native of England. Odlin's home is London, while Warren hails from Essex.

"If we were football players, it would be a big deal," says Warren.

Murray finished with eight points in the event, far back of winner Villanova and its 54 points, but Racer coach Bill Cornell was pleased with the performance.

"It's always like a circus in that place," he says. "To win anything is a tremendous accomplishment. Cobo has a board track, and 11 laps make a mile. So really, the whole race is nothing but turns and strategy."

Both Odlin and Warren agree. "I ran a 13:26 in Murfreesboro (Tenn., the site of the Ohio Valley Conference Championships)," says Odlin, "So that shows the difference the tracks make."

Odlin won the OVC event in the 3-mile and was later named the OVC Indoor Trackman Of The Year. "The win at the OVC was what really gave me the confidence," he says. "Winning the trackman award was just a feather in my cap."

Warren ran a 4:07 mile — his personal best is 4:03 — in his heat to gain the finals at the nationals, and he admits that time took a good race.

"The track is so short, and the beds are so tight, it was rough to make it in that time," he says. "A lot of runners call indoor track a circus, and I would just about agree with them."

With the honors won by Odlin and Warren, Cornell has now coached 14 NCAA Division I All-Americans in his 12 years at Murray State.

"The Easterners have a definite advantage in the style of running we had to face last weekend," says Cornell. "We almost never run on a board (wooden) track, and so much of those races are technique, it's hard to do much without the experience."

While indoor track and any honors it brings is important to Odlin and Warren, both admit the outdoor season is what really counts. "I have much more fun running outdoors," says Warren.

And Odlin admits it may have been his casual approach to the indoor season that accounts for his success. "This year, I trained indoors as just getting ready for the outdoor season. But when I did so well in Murfreesboro, I got a little more serious."

With the outdoor season only two days away, the pair's specialties change with the switch. Warren's becomes the 800 meters, though he is eyeing the 1500 meters as a goal, too. And Odlin trains for the 10,000 meters.

Also in Warren's future is a possible spot on the British 1980 Olympic team, and he feels he has good chance of making it.

"I've been the British champion in the 800 meters (last year), but I'm going to step up the 1500 permanently," Warren says. "I know Jerry's goal is the team, too, but there's a real stock of 5,000 and 10,000 meters people in England. He'll have a rougher time than I will."

Fourth-Inning Outburst

Contributes To Murray's Season-Opening Victory

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — It wasn't pretty. In fact, "it was more like a football game," said coach Johnny Reagan. But it WAS a victory.

Murray State trailed twice before finally overcoming a stubborn Memphis State squad for a 13-11 triumph Wednesday afternoon in a contest that opened the Thorobreds' baseball season.

Behind 7-2, Murray used a six-run fourth inning to take the lead, at least for a while.

Second baseman Doran Perdue walked, shortstop Steve Sencibough singled and Tom Fehn walked to load the bases. After a popup, Robin Courtney walked to score a run, and Tony Threatt's fly ball to rightfield scored another.

Greg Tooley drew another walk to load the bases again before Memphis rightfielder Ralph Garrett misplayed Darrell Niswonger's fly ball, allowing all three runs to score.

Catcher David Orem's single scored Niswonger from third base for the inning's final run.

But the Tigers scored four times in the bottom of the inning, and the 'Breds entered their half of the sixth trailing 11-8.

Murray used a double by Sencibough, scoring Orem, and a single Fehn, scoring Sencibough, to pull within 11-10.

Then, in the seventh inning, Threatt's bases-loaded walk scored Orem, Sencibough sacrificed Greg Tooley for another tally before Niswonger scored Murray's final run after Fehn's grounder to second base was misplayed.

Left-hander Andy Rice started for the 'Breds but was relieved in the fourth after allowing six earned runs. Junior righthander Cliff Buechel came on and, after giving up four runs in the fourth, shut out the Tigers the rest of the way.

Memphis State, now 6-4, did threaten in the ninth inning, however, putting runners on first and third, with one out. But a Courtney-to-Perdue-to-Wagoner double play ended the Tigers' hopes.

"It's pleasing to me to come back like we did, particularly against a team that may well be considered a national power later on," said Reagan.

"We made some errors (four), but we also made some good plays," Reagan said.

Murray hosts Chicago Circle Saturday and Sunday to begin 18 consecutive days of baseball. The Saturday game has been tentatively set for 1 p.m.

MSU Women Split

OCALA, Fla. — The Murray State women's tennis team, after dropping a morning match to the University of Houston, bounced back for a 9-0 victory over Central Florida Community College Thursday afternoon.

The Racers, now 5-1, suffered their first defeat in falling to Houston 5-4. They face Georgia State in Atlanta Saturday, their final match in the swing through the South.

Bitsy Ritt at No. 2 and Anne Riss at No. 4 were the only singles winners against Houston. Ritt won by default, and Riss beat Becky Grissom, 6-3, 6-1.

All of Murray's players, with the exception of Riss, won their singles matches in straight sets against Central Florida.

Riss dropped the first set before downing Cindy Fee, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Laurel, Clay Co. Perfect; Lakers To Play Thursday

By the Associated Press
LEXINGTON — Top-ranked Laurel County, looking for its third straight state championship, and 13th Region champion Clay County will take perfect records into the Girls State Basketball Tournament next week.

If all goes well for the two schools in first round play Wednesday at Richmond, they will meet in Friday's quarterfinals.

Laurel won its 32nd game, and its 52nd straight over the past two seasons, in winning the 12th Region championship for the third time with a 60-34 romp over Lincoln County on Tuesday.

Laurel meets Pikeville in the opening game of the state tourney at 1 p.m. Wednesday. Pikeville edged Sheldon Clark 72-70 for the 15th Region Championship.

Clay County meets Fort Knox, the 5th Region winners, in the second game at 2:30 p.m. Fort Knox downed Hardin 54-31 for the championship.

Clay County defeated last year's champion Cawood 51-45 for a 28-0 record and the 13th Region crown.

At 7:30 p.m. 4th Region champion Allen County takes on 3rd Region winner Owensboro and at 9 p.m., 7th Region winner Assumption meets Paris, 10th Region champs.

First-round play continues Thursday at 1 p.m., with 11th Region winner Lafayette meeting Campbell County, 9th Region champion. At 2:30, 2nd region winner West Hopkins takes on Leslie County, winners of the 14th Region title.

Butler, 6th Region winner, meets 16th Region champion Boyd County at 7:30 p.m., followed by a 9 p.m. contest between 1st region champion Calloway County and 8th Region winners Oldham County.

Quarterfinal play begins at 1 p.m. Friday and the two semifinal games are scheduled Saturday at 10:05 a.m. and 11:30 a.m.

The championship game is at 8:10 p.m. Saturday.

Michigan failed to make a first down against Ohio State in their 1950 game but still won, 9-3.

In the 1977 game between Grambling and Texas Southern, a total of 33 penalties were called, for a total of 421 yards.

Pulaski, Warren East Rally

Lafayette Rolls In State Play

By CHARLES WOLFE
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON — Lexington Lafayette's top-ranked Generals looked right at home to their coach, Jock Sutherland, in hammering Grant County and moving closer to the boys state high school basketball crown they are favored to win.

"You know my boys were born in the alley," Sutherland said Wednesday night. "I even thought about throwing some cans and bottles out there just to make them feel at home."

The Braves must have felt as if Sutherland had thrown the kitchen sink as the Generals stroled to a 77-51 first-round victory.

In other first-round games Wednesday, Pulaski County rallied to clip Hazard 76-73 in overtime; Warren East rode a fourth-quarter surge to edge Louisville DeSales 56-56, and Caverna struggled from behind to eliminate Clay County 89-85.

Ashland and Owensboro faced off in today's opener and Harrison County met Mayfield in the other afternoon game. Louisville Westport takes on Fort Thomas Highlands and Virgie collides with Christian County tonight to complete first-round play.

Pulaski County challenges Warren East and Caverna tackles Lafayette in brackets already set for Friday's semifinal round.

Lafayette, 33-1, used strong second- and fourth-quarter defense to swamp the Braves, who closed at 34-2.

"They (the Braves) wound up in kind of a free-lance game and that's just what we wanted," Sutherland said. "I think we're the best team in the state tournament. We've proved it all year. Now we've gotta prove it again."

Tony Wilson led Lafayette with 18 points; Dirk Minniefield added 16, including eight in the fourth period; Kurt Rose tallied 15 and Junior Johnson 10.

Steve Howe paced Grant County with 16 points, while Lance Kinsey and Bob Pfister added 12 apiece.

Caverna trailed scrappy Clay County by 13 points late in the first half, but inched back on the inside scoring of Tim Woodard, who pumped in 28 points. Todd Stinson hit two free throws to put the Colonels ahead for good at 84-83, and Tim Perrell sealed the victory with a three-point play that made it 87-83 with 26 seconds to go.

Kevin Page added 20 points for Caverna, 27-4; Demetrius Ford scored 14 points and Perrell 12.

Glenn Bishop scored 28 points for the Tigers, 26-4. Joe Lytle and Greg Smith each had 15 points, Jim Bowling 11 and Mark Ledford 10.

Reserve guard Ronnie East hit an 18-footer with four seconds to go as Warren East outscored DeSales 19-5 over the final four minutes.

"He (East) has been wanting to take one all year," said Raider Coach Dallas Embry, who also praised his team's pressing man-to-man defense, which was unveiled in the closing minutes.

"We just didn't handle the pressure this time," said DeSales Coach Lucian Raque. "They were hoping we wouldn't handle the press and we didn't." Tony Anthony scored 12 points and James Shobe 11 for Warren East, 26-4.

Vanatta Named Trans America Commissioner

SHREVEPORT, La. — Bob Vanatta, Commissioner of the Ohio Valley Conference and the man who led Memphis State University basketball to national prominence in the late 1950s, has been named Commissioner of the new Trans America Athletic Conference.

Vanatta will assume duties with the Trans America — a Division I basketball-oriented league — on June 1, and will establish the TAAC Commissioner's Office in Shreveport.

Vanatta's appointment was announced Wednesday by TAAC president Dr. Jesse Fletcher, president of Hardin-Simmons University of Abilene, Tex.

Vanatta, Commissioner of the Ohio Valley Conference for the past three years, coached Memphis State to three appearances in the National Invitation Tournament and one in the NCAA post-season meet during a six-year stint (1956-62). His 1956 Memphis State team posted a 24-6 record and gained national attention by finishing second in the NIT, losing to Bradley, 84-83, on a last-second shot in Madison Square Garden.

Vanatta posted a 99-34 record at Memphis State. His 1960-61 team went 20-3, still the best win percentage (.870) in school history.

Vanatta also coached basketball at the University of Missouri, Bradley, Army, Southwest Missouri State, and Central Methodist during a 21-year coaching career. He led Bradley to the NCAA meet, won two National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics titles at Southwest Missouri State, and took five conference championships in seven years at Southwest Missouri and Central Methodist.

Controversy Arises Once Again Over Female Reporters' Rights

By the Associated Press
MIAMI — Baltimore Orioles Manager Earl Weaver says before women are allowed in the team's locker room they "should have to have a letter from their parents."

But General Manager Hank Peters said Wednesday that since Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn lifted his guidelines which barred women from the clubhouse, female reporters will be allowed in the team's dressing quarters as of opening day. "As long as they have proper press credentials, women will be given free access to our clubhouse with no time limit," Peters said. "The only thing we're doing is installing a wall several feet in front of the door leading from the locker room to the shower."

Pitching coach Ray Miller said: "They all talk about how embarrassed the women will be. Well, I know I'm going to be embarrassed."

Tennis Association Elects Officers

Officers and board members were elected at the third annual meeting of the Murray Tennis Association Monday night in the North Branch of People's Bank.

New officers are: Ben Hogancamp, president; Ken Harrell, vice president;

Vickie Lance, secretary and treasurer.

Board of Director members are: Ann Bloom, Rainey Apperson, Eddie Hunt and Sue Overby. Overby, the outgoing president, conducted the meeting.

Plans were made for a mixed scramble tournament for April 28-29, and a sanctioned junior tournament is set for June 28-29. The annual summer clinic for youngsters is also being planned. The membership drive is now in progress, and an open meeting will be held April 2 at 7 p.m.

Milwaukee Blasts Jazz, Scores 158

By the Associated Press
According to Milwaukee's Junior Bridgeman, the best offense is a good defense. "The key was our pressure defense," Bridgeman said Wednesday night after scoring 25 points and leading the Milwaukee Bucks to a club-point mark as they played a 158-102 tune on the hapless New Orleans Jazz. "We got them down and wouldn't let up," Bridgeman added. "It became a fun sort of thing."

The Bucks scored the game's first seven points and gradually stretched their lead to 48-27, 71-47 at halftime, 115-74 after three periods and 142-92 on a fourth-quarter basket by Lloyd Walton.

The old single-game scoring record — 152 points in a triple-overtime game against the New York Knicks last season — fell by the wayside as the Bucks shot 65.1 percent and poured in a club record 69 field goals.

Elsewhere in the National Basketball Association, the San Antonio Spurs beat the Los Angeles Lakers 125-112, the Houston Rockets trounced the Kansas City Kings 129-107, the Golden State Warriors trimmed the Atlanta Hawks 113-98, the San Diego Clippers downed the Portland Trail Blazers 110-105, the Seattle SuperSonics shaded the Philadelphia 76ers 99-96, the Denver Nuggets defeated the New Jersey Nets 120-110 and the Phoenix Suns eclipsed the Boston Celtics 126-117.

Spurs 125, Lakers 112
George Gervin pumped in 34 points to reach the 12,000-point plateau in only his seventh pro season as San Antonio handed Los Angeles its fifth consecutive loss. Gervin, the NBA's leading scorer this season and last year's scoring champ, hit 20 points in the first half. It was the 10th victory in the last 12 games for the Spurs, who held Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to six points in the first half, although he finished with 20. Jamaal Wilkes led Los Angeles with 28.

Rockets 129, Kings 107
Rudy Tomjanovich scored 30 points to lead six Rockets in double figures. Tomjanovich connected on nine of 12 shots in the first half. Calvin Murphy and Moses Malone added 18 points apiece while Bill Robinson scored a season-high 32 for Kansas City, which played without Phil Ford, Richard Washington and Darnell Hillman.

Nuggets 120, Nets 110
Dan Issel scored 24 points to pace Denver, which opened a 55-38 halftime lead and was never challenged in the final two periods.

NCAA Region Semis Will Trim Number To Eight

By the Associated Press
In case you hadn't heard, Marquette and DePaul and Louisville and Arkansas are playing basketball tonight in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament.

The problems those four teams face are the same ones that San Francisco and Oklahoma face, but in a far different way.

You see, second-ranked UCLA and No.1 Indiana State are also playing tonight and, as might be expected, the Bruins and Sycamores are getting the lions' share of the attention.

Marquette, ranked 10th, faces sixth-ranked DePaul in the opener of the West Regional semifinals at Provo, Utah. Then San Francisco, ranked 12th, goes against a bunch of Bruins intent on proving that UCLA belongs back at the top, where it reigned for so many years.

In the Midwest Regional semifinals at Cincinnati, No. 13 Louisville opposes fifth-ranked Arkansas, then 16th-ranked Oklahoma takes on the Sycamores, who are equally intent on proving that Indiana State belongs right where it is — No. 1 in the rankings.

There are eight other teams — all ranked — waiting in the wings for their chance to advance to the regional finals. On Friday night in the East semis, it's No. 8 Syracuse facing No. 14 Pennsylvania and No. 17 St. John's playing No. 18 Rutgers at Greensboro, N.C. And on the same night, the Midwest semis at Indianapolis send No. 4 Notre Dame against No. 19 Toledo and No. 3 Michigan State against No. 7 Louisiana State.

The NCAA has to share the spotlight tonight with the National Invitation Tournament's third-round games. Old Dominion visits 15th-ranked Purdue and Alabama takes on Texas A&M in Houston, with the winners playing each other next Monday night in the semifinals at Madison Square Garden. Indiana and Ohio State, who received third-round byes, will play the other semifinal leading to next Wednesday night's NIT championship matchup.

UCLA, which had a few centers of note (Lew Alcindor, Steve Paterson, Swen Nater and Bill Walton) during its championship seasons, now must overcome San Francisco's 7-foot-1, 255-pound All-American Bill Cartwright, owner of a 24.1-point scoring average and an NCAA-leading 16 rebounds a game. Among the Dons' other starters are 6-8 Guy Williams, 6-8 Bart Bowers and 6-6 Doug Jemison.

"They are big and physical and also very quick," acknowledges Bruins Coach Gary Cunningham. "They'll be the biggest team we've played this season."

The Marquette-DePaul game is a rematch of the teams' regular-season thriller, when Gary Garland's basket just before the buzzer gave DePaul a 61-60 victory. "We always play close," says DePaul Coach Ray Meyer. "They know us. We know them. They know our style. We know their style. It should be a good game and it will go one way or the other by a point or two."

Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton naturally has Louisville's Cardinals on his mind at the moment. "Anyone of their starters could have a 20-point night. They're explosive. They have as much talent as anyone we've played," he says.

But he's also looking ahead to a possible date with the unbeaten Sycamores.

"Indiana State, day in and day out, may be the better team (than his Razorbacks) but at this stage of the game anyone who's left has a shot."

Denny Crum, Louisville's coach, expressed a bit of concern over Arkansas' methodical style. He said he would have preferred to face a run-and-gun team.

"They do an excellent job of controlling the tempo," Crum said of the Razorbacks. "Personally, I don't like their tempo, but I can't argue with their results. They do what they have to win."

Lee Rose, Purdue's coach, is also looking ahead — a lot further ahead than Sutton. "We've been learning to play together and I think we're beginning to develop some confidence," he said of his Boilermakers, the only ranked team left in the NIT.

Gov. Carroll Takes Newborn's Place As UK Shows Off System

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll took the place of a newborn infant when the University of Kentucky showed off its new neonatal transport system.

Wednesday's Lexington-to-Frankfort helicopter mission was a simulation of an actual run, demonstrating the system developed under an $80,000 grant from the state Human Resources Department.

Dr. Evelyn Melnick, assistant professor of pediatrics in the division of neonatology who developed the system, and Kathy Tepas, head nurse in the neonatal intensive care unit, were aboard the Kentucky National Guard helicopter that flew to the state Capitol to bring the governor and a doll back to the UK hospital.

The system is used to bring critically ill babies to the medical center from anywhere in Kentucky or outside the state.

Dr. Melnick said an efficient transportation system is a fundamental requirement for regionalization of perinatal care, or care of critically-ill newborn infants.

Using helicopter transportation adds to the speed with which a newborn can be brought to the hospital, but the key components of the system are the trained medical team and a highly sophisticated piece of equipment known as a modular transport incubator, which has full life support systems.

A baby is placed in the incubator for the return trip to the hospital after the medical team has stabilized its condition. Dr. Melnick said it gives an infant the best possible chance for survival, whether transported by helicopter or ambulance.

The baby is transferred from the incubator to a specially designed bed in the UK neonatal intensive care unit after arrival in Lexington.

The equipment was loaded onto the helicopter Wednesday as usual but was not used since the team wasn't transporting a baby.

Figures provided by Dr. Melnick on the seven runs taken since the system was established earlier this year show the medical team can mobilize in 30-45 minutes when a physician requests assistance. They can be on the scene in less than an hour in most cases when using a helicopter. An ambulance is used at night or in bad weather.

The physician and nurse spend 1-2 hours stabilizing an infant at the scene before placing him in the incubator to make the return trip.

The grant to develop a transport system was shared equally by the UK Department of Pediatrics and Emergency Medical Services.

...THE NEWS IN BRIEF...

NATIONAL
DALLAS (AP) — The scene in the cockpit was frantic. Doctors and crew members labored to save the life of Capt. Lloyd Wilcox, stricken by a massive heart attack as his gleaming orange Boeing 747 cruised 33,000 feet over the Pacific Ocean.

But beyond the cockpit door was calm. The 331 passengers on Braniff International Flight 502 from Honolulu to Dallas were unaware of the drama.

Not even Wilcox's wife of three years, Theresa, who supervised the plane's team of 16 stewardesses, was told her husband was dead until shortly before the plane landed in Dallas.

Wilcox, 59, two months away from retirement and the end of a distinguished 35-year career, was stricken about 3 a.m. Wednesday as his plane was about a half hour west of Los Angeles.

Copilot James Cunningham and 2nd Officer Robert Barnes landed the plane 19 minutes behind schedule at Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

WASHINGTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter estimates an Egyptian-Israeli treaty will cost American taxpayers about $5 billion. Key members of Congress say that's a small price to pay for peace.

Both Republicans and Democrats said Wednesday that they foresee little trouble in approving new military and economic aid requests associated with the treaty.

Carter, who planned to begin a long weekend at Camp David today, briefed about 50 members of the Senate and House on his peace mission Wednesday at the White House.

He was deliberately vague in his estimates, stressing that costs could go up if, for example, Saudi Arabia withdraws its military aid to Egypt to punish it for signing a treaty with Israel.

make human beings "the slave of things."

Pope Issues Encyclical On Consumer Societies

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer
VATICAN CITY (AP) — In his first encyclical, Pope John Paul II warned today that technologically advanced, consumer societies threaten to make human beings "the slave of things."

He also assailed nations that give "only atheism the right of citizenship," pledged the church to defend human freedom, condemned the widening gap between rich and poor and denounced the arms buildup.

"We all know well," he said, "that the areas of misery and hunger on our globe could have been made fertile in a short time if the gigantic investments for armaments at the service of war and destruction had been changed into investments for food at the service of life."

The 18,000-word encyclical, an authoritative form of papal teaching, was addressed to the world's Roman Catholics and also to "all men and women of good will."

In it, the pope from Communist Poland specified no nations by name, but he said "the curtailment and violation of religious freedoms are in contrast with man's dignity and his objective rights...."

"It is therefore difficult, even from a 'purely human' point of view, to accept a position that gives only atheism the right of citizenship in public and social life, while believers are ... barely tolerated or are treated as second-class citizens or are even — and this has already happened — entirely deprived of the rights of citizenship."

In the "name of all believers," he appealed to governments everywhere to "respect the rights of religion and of the church's activity. No privilege is asked for, but only respect for an elementary right."

The pope said the modern age has brought "a time of great progress" but also "a time of threat in many forms for man."

Already, he said, there is a "real perceptible danger" of man losing "his dominion" and becoming "subject to manipulation in many ways" by organizational, production and communication systems.

"Man cannot relinquish himself or the place in the visible world that belongs to him," the pope said. "He cannot become the slave of things, the slave of economic systems, the slave of production, the slave of his own products."

"A civilization purely materialistic in outline condemns man to such slavery....It is a matter of the whole dynamism of life and civilization."

JERUSALEM (AP) — The defense ministers of Israel and Egypt are flying to Washington today to complete military details of the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty.

Israel's Ezer Weizman and Egypt's Kamel Hasan Ali are expected to spend about two days winding up the military annex spelling out such specifics as the lines to which Israeli troops will fall back as they pull out of the Sinai Peninsula.

Israel's Cabinet on Wednesday approved the last two compromises proposed by President Carter for the treaty draft.

Vanderbilt Students To Present French Plays

A troupe of 12 Vanderbilt University graduate students will present a program of five short plays in the French language at Murray State University on Friday evening, March 23.

All rollicking comedies from the Gay Nineties, the plays will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center auditorium. The presentation will mark the first time plays have been done in French on the campus.

Plays on the program include one by Feydeau entitled "Fiances en herbe" (Sweethearts in the Bud) and four by Courteline — "La Lettre chargée" (The Registered Letter), "Gros Chagrins" (Deep Sorrows),

"La Paix chez soi" (Peace at Home), and "La Peur des coups" (Fear of Being Beaten Up).

The program is sponsored by the College of Humanistic Studies, the Department of Foreign Languages, the French Club, and Zeta Omicron chapter of Pi Delta Phi national French honor society.

Dr. Bert Ball, associate professor of French at Murray State, arranged the presentation with the director of the troupe, Dr. Dan Church, after seeing plays in French at Vanderbilt last year.

"My summation of the plays I saw is that they were professional and well-done — and extremely entertaining," Ball said. "All the students who participated speak either native French or as well as natives."

Explaining that the program is an attempt to call attention to the foreign languages, Ball added that he hopes high school and college classes will attend, along with other interested people in the community.

He said a contribution of $1 per person will be solicited to pay the transportation costs of the troupe.

Supper Club Trial Postponed Till April

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Beverly Hills Supper Club fire damage trial will be postponed until April 2, U.S. District Court officials said Wednesday.

U.S. District Judge Carl Rubin had scheduled the trial to begin March 19, but court officials said both Rubin and U.S. District Judge Eugene Siler have criminal cases scheduled for the next two weeks.

Under the federal Speedy Trial Act the judges must expedite criminal matters before civil matters, court officials said.

City's Spring Clean-Up Routes

SPRING CLEAN-UP ROUTES — The city has been divided into five sections to facilitate the picking up of tree and shrub trimmings, leaves, grass and weeds during the annual spring clean-up and beautification which will begin March 19, according to Ray Clark, city street superintendent. The sections of town and the dates the sections will be picked up are shown on this map. Two days have been allotted for each section's collection. Trimmings should be stacked in neat piles no more than six feet long and six inches in diameter. Leaves, grass, weeds and small trimmings must be placed in plastic bags, Clark said.

PENALTY FOR WITHDRAWAL PRIOR TO MATURITY OF A TIME DEPOSIT

As a result of FDIC regulations which became effective July 5, 1973, you may not withdraw all or any part of your time deposit prior to maturity, except with the consent of this bank, which may be given only at the time such request for withdrawal is made. At such time the bank may, but is not required to, give its consent. If the bank does consent the following penalty will be assessed on the amount withdrawn.

The depositor may not receive interest from the date of deposit on the amount withdrawn at a rate in excess of the maximum rate which may be paid on savings deposits by this bank on the date of withdrawal and the depositor shall forfeit all interest calculated at such savings deposit rate whether accrued and unpaid, or paid to or for the depositor's account, on the amount withdrawn for a period of three months or for the period since the date of the deposit, whichever is less. Where necessary to comply with this requirement, interest already paid to or for the account of the depositor shall be deducted from the amount requested by the depositor to be withdrawn.

Beatles Are Still Big Business 15 Years After U.S. Introduction

By MARK POTTS
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Fifteen years after they were introduced to America on the Ed Sullivan show, 10 years after they last entered a recording studio together, the Beatles are still big business.

It's not exactly that the Beatles need it. The four members of the group that revolutionized music in the 1960s — Paul McCartney, John Lennon, George Harrison and Ringo Starr — made millions in the first flush of success and now have separate, successful careers. But now their work together is making loads of money for other people.

Their label, Capitol Records, reports that the group's records still sell millions of copies a year. "Beatlemania," a stage show using Beatle look-and-sound-alikes, is doing well on Broadway and on a nationwide tour. And Beatle memorabilia is highly prized by collectors and commands impressive prices.

The Beatle boom is not just attributable to nostalgia. Many of the fans are teenagers, some of whom weren't born when the group's long hair was shocking the nation in 1964.

At a recent gathering of Beatle fans in New York at the fifth annual Beatlefest, half the crowd appeared to be younger than the Beatle legend.

"This is weird — I really feel old," said fan Walter Winnick. Winnick is 23.

"Half the crowd is adults and half the crowd is teenagers. They're second-generation Beatle fans," said Mark Lapidus, organizer of the New York Beatlefest and

Woman Is Found Guilty In Death Of Her Husband

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Formal sentencing is scheduled March 30 for Sheila Wilson of Hopkinsville, who was found guilty of murder in the shooting death of her husband.

The Christian Circuit Court jury that convicted Mrs. Wilson Tuesday evening set the sentence at 20 years in prison. The jury of six men and six women deliberated 2½ hours.

Sentencing will be by Judge Stephen White, who presided over the two-day trial.

Her husband, Michael Wilson, 29, was shot Feb. 2, 1978, on a rural Christian County road. His body was not discovered until last April in a creek bed.

Robert Goff, 28, from Gaston County, N.C., is to go on trial later charged with murder in the same case.

Mrs. Wilson did not testify in her trial. But she allegedly told police in a statement that was read at the trial that she, Wilson and Goff were at the scene of the shooting. She said she heard two shots and that Goff returned to the truck and said, "I shot him."

Authorities contend Wilson was killed because he was about to tell authorities Goff was a fugitive from South Carolina.

similar events in Chicago and Los Angeles.

Lapidus won't say how much he makes from organizing Beatleests, but it's enough to allow him and his wife, Carol, to make a living doing it full time.

Lapidus put together his first New York Beatlefest in 1974, and they've played to capacity crowds ever since. With a minimum of advertising, this one drew more than 6,000 Beatlemaniacs at an average price of $8 a head.

And that was just where their spending began. Inside, there were 4 large meeting rooms and a huge ballroom full of Beatles' films, artwork by fans, guest speakers and a flea market, the latter the event's most popular area.

There, devotees of the four Liverpudlians could buy anything from buttons to trading cards to records to movies — all at impressive prices.

A copy of the rare "Yesterday ... And Today" album with the rare cover showing the Beatles holding what appear to be dead babies can fetch $250 — 50 times what it cost new. Reproductions of the cover photograph were selling for $3 each — and were also available on T-shirts and posters.

Bob Iulucci, who was selling films and videotapes of old Beatle performances, said business was "great." Iulucci

Somerset Applies For Housing Units

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP) — The Housing Authority of Somerset is applying for 70 additional units of public housing, and the city is going to ask the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for $14,000 to plan and survey for the project.

Somerset currently has 174 units of public housing. No new city-owned public housing has been constructed in about 10 years because of HUD policy to approve rent-subsidized privately developed housing.

Mayor Daryl Whitaker, chairman of the Lake Cumberland Housing Agency, said HUD's policy will change this fall in favor of the former municipally owned public housing of a decade ago.

Taiwanese Group To Visit Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner Tom Harris said Wednesday he has received word from Taiwanese officials that a fourth procurement mission will visit the United States and return to Kentucky in June.

Harris said the letter he received from the Nationalist Chinese didn't indicate what they intended to purchase, but that they probably are interested in tobacco, soybeans, corn, and possibly wheat.

He said the letter said the Taiwanese appreciated the courtesy with which they were treated on their first buying trip to the Commonwealth last December.

also would not say what his annual income from Beatle memorabilia was, but he would admit to it being "in five figures."

Iulucci got into the Beatle business three years ago by combining two hobbies — Beatle music and film. Now he travels the country selling his wares to Beatle fans — whether they need them or not. "In Houston I sold over $300 worth of films to a woman who didn't even own a projector," he said. "She just wanted the films."

For the most hardcore Beatle fans, Beatlefest is heaven. And the fans react to the goings-on with fervor reminiscent of the height of Beatlemania in 1964; girls still scream when their favorite Beatle's face appears during one of the endless string of movies being shown. And Beatle sound-alike contests are perennial favorites.

The less devoted partake of more moderate celebrations. The "Beatlemania" stage show is scoffed at by a lot of Beatle fans who resent the slick presentation of ersatz Beatles, but it's heading for its third year on Broadway.

And the real thing, or at least recorded versions of it, keeps Capitol Records' financial affairs healthy. Rarely is a Beatle album out of the list of 200 best-selling albums, and any time new interest in the group flares, several of the albums re-enter the ranks of 100-top-selling albums.

The Beatles themselves are still highly commercial. Harrison's latest album and single are heading up the charts, and McCartney recently signed a recording deal with Columbia Records said to be worth $2 million an album plus $2 for each record sold — the most lucrative recording contract in history.

Of course, not all Beatle-related ventures make money. Two of 1978's biggest box-office flops were movies peripherally involving the group's music: "I Wanna Hold Your Hand" and "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Heart's Club Band."

But to Capitol Records and people like Lapidus and Iulucci, the Beatles are still something that people will spend money on. As one fan said after surveying the flea market at Beatlefest, "The Beatles used to sing 'All You Need Is Love.' Now all you need is cash."

GAS SQUEEZE — James Monohan, attendant at service station in downtown Portland, Ore., displays sign telling potential customers to look elsewhere for gasoline. Monohan said signs were sent by Chevron to company-owned stations. Several Portland-area stations have curtailed business hours to conserve fuel. A cutback in supplies has coupled with record demand to cause the gas squeeze.

Nixon Says He Was Briefed On Treaty

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon said Wednesday he was briefed "from Air Force One" on the terms of the Middle East peace treaty and lauded the achievement.

The agreement may be costly, but the price of war between Egypt and Israel would be much higher, the former president told reporters at New York Hospital, where Nixon's daughter, Tricia, gave birth Wednesday to his first grandson.

Nixon said his assessment of the agreement was based on a briefing by President Carter's foreign affairs adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski from aboard the presidential airplane.

Nixon said he understood "the cost is going to be considerable" but urged bipartisan support for the initiative because the cost of war would be "infinitely greater."

He called the peace terms hammered out in talks with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat "a very significant movement forward, not only for those countries but for the rest of the area."

Nixon said the next step was peace "for the whole area," and added that he was "very happy to see that President Carter is working toward that goal."

The former president flew to New York from San Clemente and termed his 7-pound, 5½-ounce grandson, Christopher, "a very handsome lad."

Committee Expected To Make Decision On Expansion Of Airport

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A citizens advisory committee is expected to make a decision next week on the proposed expansion of Blue Grass Airport here.

The 11-member committee will report to the Urban-County Airport Board, which will decide what action to take on a consultant's recommendation that a $20.2 million runway be constructed southeast of the existing runway.

Farmers and neighborhood groups near the airport have protested the plan, saying the new runway is not needed and that the estimated cost figure is far too conservative.

School Officials May Opt To Not Make Up Five Days This Year

By HERBERT SPARROW

Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky schools will have the option of not making up five days missed this year because of winter weather.

However, some schools which went longer hours to build up a reserve of time were left holding a timeclock.

After several hours of debate spread over two days of its regular quarterly meeting, the state Board for Elementary and Secondary Education Wednesday agreed to grant up to five calamity days because of winter weather or other emergencies such as floods.

State law requires 175 days of classroom instruction each school year, but allows the state board to grant exemptions in the case of emergencies. The board directed the staff of the Department of Education to approve any amended school calendar that will get in 170 days of teaching.

The board also said local districts could not make up more than five other days missed because of bad weather through extended hours or so-called snow bank days already accumulated through longer hours.

The snow bank approach was also approved by the 1978 legislature, but the board had not made any approval of snow bank days until Wednesday.

Some school districts have already gone the equivalent of more than five days through longer school hours this year, but they will only be able to count five of the days.

The requests of eight districts for more than five calamity days were not approved and will be taken up individually by the board at its April meeting unless the districts change their calendars to get in the 170 days. The state board also approved a compromise agreement that will allow teachers to count non-college credit work, including local professional in-service work, toward the requirements for maintaining their teaching certificates.

Teachers are required to obtain a master's degree or its equivalent within 10 years to keep their certificate in force, but there has been considerable debate over what should be the equivalent of a college degree.

The original proposal by the Council on Teacher Education and Certification last summer was that 30 hours spent in local school district professional development or in continuing education courses offered by colleges would be equal to one semester hour of college credit.

However, that proposal created considerable debate within the educational community and the measure was reworked. The board approved the alternative proposal of 20 clock hours being equal to one semester hour of traditional college credit.

The board also approved new guidelines for programs for gifted and talented children aimed at removing much of the controversy surrounding last year's initial funding of the program.

The board agreed to set a maximum grant of $20,000 to a school district and require people from out-of-state to evaluate and make recommendations on applications for funding.

Several school superintendents whose requests were turned down last year complained that the five people evaluating the programs were all from districts competing with theirs for funds.

Vietnam Troops Said To Be Harrassing Chinese

By DENIS D. GRAY

Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)

— Vietnam's troops were reported harassing withdrawing Chinese troops today as Hanoi accused the Chinese of moving border markers south into Vietnamese territory to alter the frontier.

Kyodo, the Japanese news service, said a Chinese official in Peking told it the bulk of the Chinese invasion force has withdrawn from Vietnam, and the pullout "will take another day or so" to complete.

Xinhua (Hsinhua), the official Chinese news agency, said the withdrawing forces were fighting off harassing attacks by Vietnamese troops.

"Part of the enemy troops were wiped out and the rest scuttled," said Xinhua.

Analysts in Bangkok said the Vietnamese were trailing the withdrawing Chinese and attacking them in some areas along the frontier. But one diplomat said the Vietnamese attacks apparently were not serious enough to warrant major Chinese counterattacks.

Nhan Dan, the Vietnamese Communist Party's Hanoi newspaper, said Vietnam "with sincerity and humane policy let the Chinese withdraw without chasing or attacking them. But the Chinese not only delayed the withdrawal but also plundered, looted, shelled and burned Vietnamese houses."

"In many areas, Chinese troops moved (border) marker posts deep inside Vietnamese territory with the aim to change the historical boundary of the two countries."

Radio Hanoi said its correspondent saw Chinese troops building emplacements in the past few days to entrench themselves in border areas.

Hanoi claimed that its troops killed or wounded 1,100 Chinese and knocked out 104 military vehicles "in fierce fighting" Monday and Tuesday in the Lao Cai border region, at the head of the Red River valley 155 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Nhan Dan repeated the earlier Vietnamese invitation to China to open negotiations once all its troops were withdrawn. The newspaper urged Peking to prove its sincerity "right now, by deeds and not by words."

The Chinese pushed into Vietnam on Feb. 17 after a year of cross-border skirmishes and the Vietnamese invasion of Cambodia, a Chinese ally. The Vietnamese claimed the Chinese were forced by heavy losses and foreign condemnation to make their announcement March 5 that the invaders were withdrawing.

Peking has issued few reports of the fighting, and correspondents have not been allowed onto the battlefield to see the fighting first hand.

Mortician Cuts Funeral Costs With $6 Coffins

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) — Maverick mortician Ken Timlick, who says he's been searching 20 years for ways to cut funeral costs, is offering burials for as low as $150. Part of his formula is a $6 cardboard coffin.

The coffin is made by MacMillan Bloedel Ltd., a locally-based wood products company which produces cardboard boxes for $3 each. Timlick's wife, Jean, sews pillows and linings for the boxes, using a satin-like fabric, for another $3.

"Those are all my costs for labor and materials," said Timlick, 54. "It's clearly a triumph. It is a $6 coffin."

Since some people might object to being encased in a cardboard box, Timlick came up with a solution. Last year, he acquired the Canadian franchise of a Florida company that markets catafalques.

A catafalque is a fancy "bottomless coffin," sort of a reusable shell which is placed over the coffins. The bereaved family buys only the cardboard coffin and rents the catafalque.

Timlick said the catafalque, which resembles some of the more expensive coffins priced at $1,500 or more, stays in place through viewings, processions and services but is removed after the ceremony.

The B.C. Funeral Service Association is unhappy about Timlick's new system. Brian Winther, association vice-president and head of the ethics committee, said the catafalque is deception.

"It doesn't make sense for a person to fool all his friends into thinking he has spent a wad on mother," he said. "It's like renting a limo for the night and trying to pretend that you own it."

Executive director Brian Fondrick said the association maintains that anything that goes to the cemetery should stay there.

"I don't know if a cardboard box reflects an appropriate degree of success for a life that has been lived."

Timlick disagrees: "Those lily-white puritans are afraid of losing sales of their high priced units."

In the last four months, he said, the catafalques have been used about 100 times in five funeral parlors, four in British Columbia and one in Winnipeg. One Vancouver funeral director said they constitute nearly one-third of his business.

Catafalque renters in British Columbia have been able to cut the average $1,000 cost of a funeral by almost half, Timlick says, and he maintains he can further undercut funeral costs. He has just opened his own funeral parlor to prove it. Using the cardboard coffin and the catafalque, he said, he can offer a full funeral for as little as $150.

Birthday Greeting To Our Girl Scouts

Little girls do not remain so for long. They grow up to become wives and mothers, citizens, persons engaged in businesses and professions. Their formative years are few and pass quickly.

During those brief years of childhood and youth, personalities are formed through a variety of experiences and pressures which have a lasting effect throughout adulthood. And with negative influences so prevalent today, the benefits of the scouting program assume an even greater importance in the lives of those it touches than ever before.

Girl Scouting had its beginning in America with Juliette Low, who founded the movement in Savannah, Ga., on March 12, 1912, having borrowed the idea from England, where the scouting program first began through the efforts of Sir Robert Baden-Powell.

In the intervening years, countless hundreds of thousands of young girls have participated in projects related to homemaking, arts and crafts, nature, health and safety, international friendship, and numerous other fields, all of which have helped to mold them into better citizens and more productive individuals.

Working and playing together, Girl Scouts learn to develop their talents, to co-operate in group programs, to show initiative, to enlarge skills, to practice good citizenship, and to live up to their full potential as persons. Through the building of self reliance and the practice of helping others through community projects, girls are aided in growing into useful, and therefore happier, members of society.

None of this would be possible, of course, without the efforts put forth by volunteer leaders, some of whom devote years of service to the scouting program. They work unstintingly, not for pay, or even for praise. Rather, their compensation comes in the satisfaction of seeing youth develop into capable adults, and assisting them along those paths which will be beneficial both to young girls and to the families and communities who will be affected by their influence in years to come.

We congratulate Brownies, Girl Scouts, and their leaders everywhere today as they continue this worthwhile course toward building better lives and a better world.

We especially want to say a Happy Birthday to those Brownies, Girl Scouts, and leaders here in the Murray area who are having special observances throughout this week in celebration of this important occasion.

It's Hard To Resist The Urge These Days To Fly A Kite Again

It's all I can do some of these gusty March days to resist the urge to get a ball of twine and fly a kite again. I had such great fun doing that as a boy.

I've watched with interest some of the kite fliers over our way with their weird-looking, store-bought plastic kites. They'll get them up a 100 feet or so, sail them for a few minutes as they nervously pitch back and forth across the sky. Then they'll haul them in, wad up the string and dump the kite in a corner somewhere and off they go as something else catches their fancy.

A kite was a cherished possession — almost like a friend — and flying one was somewhat of an art when I was a boy on West South street in Mayfield. We used to make our own with a couple of sticks, brown wrapping paper and paste made from some of Mom's flour and some water. Those didn't cost anything, and they didn't always fly, either.

If you could come up with a dime, you could buy one of the store-bought kites, some two-stick, some three. My favorite was the three-stick — two sticks crossed like a big "X" with another across the middle. The most popular one had a picture of a grinning, snaggled-tooth boy on it, and it was a great flier provided the bridle was properly adjusted.

Twine was the hardest thing to come by. We couldn't make that, and it cost precious pennies, go get enough to put out kites as far as we liked — often completely out of sight.

Too, our kites were flown with tail on them — strips of cloth, generally from an old sheet or something like that, knotted together. This kept the kite steady in the sky, and the trick was to add just enough tail to keep it in the air and light enough to climb against the wind once you held the line taut.

When the wind was strong, sometimes we would have 30 or 40 feet of tail strung out behind our kites, and it would take three or four of us to get it airborne as all that had to be held up off the ground as the kite was pulled into the wind.

A favorite past-time with our kites was to put them up and leave them tied down to see just how long they would stay in the air day and night.

We discovered this quite by accident one day when Robert Griffin, a neighborhood buddy, accidentally let his string get away from him and hang, entangled, in a tall poplar tree beside the Catholic Church a block away. In his anxiety to retrieve the fast moving string, Robert looking up as he ran, caught a clothesline under his chin, was flipped up and down on his back and had the breath knocked out of him.

Meanwhile, the drifting and falling kite trailed the loose string across the open lots then near our home and into the topmost branches of the tree by the church where it became snagged. The kite then straightened up and flew serenely over northwest Mayfield for three or four days before a rainstorm brought it down one night. Every morning when we would get up, the first thing we would do would be to look to see if Robert's kite was still flying.

After that we got to trying to see how long we could purposely keep one up. I can't recall who set the record, but some of them were up for days.

We played all sorts of boyhood games with our kites.

We made parachutes of handkerchiefs, hooked a bent pin in the top of them and put them on the kite string.

The parachute itself then would act like a sail as the wind would push it along the string up to about where we wanted it. Then we would flip it off and it would come drifting to the ground, often hanging in trees or landing on someone's roof. We lost a lot of handkerchiefs that way.

Another game was to send "messages" up to the kite, at times two or three thousand feet away. We'd do this with pieces of fairly stiff paper cut or torn in a circle and slit so it could be hooked over the string. Like the parachutes, the wind would push these pieces of paper on up the string toward the kite. The idea here was to see who could get the greatest number of "messages" up the string to his kite.

You got to be a real pro, however, when you had enough string and could put your kite completely out of sight. It wasn't bad letting the string out but to wind it back in was something else again.

My father, who could come up with some sort of contraption to meet just about any need, rigged us up some "winders" — rollers with cranks on them — with which we could retrieve our most distant kites quickly and easily.

"Hey! Put a little tail on it and it'll stop that!" I yelled the other day to a youngster trying to keep a plunging bat-like kite up in a stiff wind.

"What do you know about it?" his annoyed stare back seemed to say. He had no idea what I was talking about.

The Story Of Calloway County

1822-1976 By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

Although elections were rare moments of relief for a people beset with obtaining the necessities of life, including comfort and human happiness, the annual pilgrimage to a circus afforded a brief and shocking escape from the harshness of the tobacco field or the monotony of whittling in front of the country store, not to mention the Civil War, the Democrats and the Republicans, and the factions culminating in the Holland-Keys political affair. Once a year and seldom more often would the circus come to town. Maybe just a wild-west show with Indians and a wild animal show. Townspeople engaged in business huddled upon the big show events for the economic effect it had on the available money supply was self-evident. The free parade staged from the big tent, always below the railroad tracks in Morris Field where the Fitts Block and Ready Mix concrete plant stands, or to the south in the Ryan field at the site of the sewage disposal operation. The parade would go up Main Street to the court square, circle, and return to the show grounds. The circus yesterday was quite similar to that of today, however the effects of seeing a female trapeze artist in tights spell-bound the male population and sent the womenfolks in a tizzy at the Ladies Aid Society, not to mention drawing a scathing indictment from the pulpits of fundamentalists the following Sunday morning. The circus of yesterday was nothing more than rough timber of those seen weekly on television. The wild west shows had a unique attraction related to the historic events of the time. But this part of the story pertains to the latter part of the past century after the coming of the railroad when Buffalo Bill (William Cody, 1846-1917) arrived with his troupe of Indians, cowboys, ponies and shooting irons. The parade was limited to a strung-out line composed of Buffalo Bill and sour-looking Indians astride mustangs. The show routine was one of trick riding and fast shooting along with a clown or two for merriment. Pawnee Bill also headed a wild westerner visitation never to be forgotten, particularly the one-legged Indian performing his art aboard a pony. The John R. Robinson Circus was the favorite of the early circuses, the wild westerns a slow second, and Sun Brothers Circus taking the third position, according to this concert. All are legacies left in the faint corridors of show time for Calloway County.

The EPA And Coal Production

By GEORGE W. HACKETT

Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — What would happen if a stranger showed up one day and attempted to build a fence between good neighbors?

"You'd fight," said James Friedman, "and that's why we're involved in a battle with the Environmental Protection Agency. At stake are hundreds of jobs and the sale of more than 12 million tons of coal a year."

The coal has been going to Ohio but the EPA is working on an order that would require the state's utilities to purchase supplies regionally. "And regionally, as the EPA wants to define it, means in Ohio only," said Friedman. The dispute centers around the Clean Air Act and the chemistry of coal.

Friedman, chief organizer of The Committee To Preserve The Appalachian Coal Market, explained that most Ohio coal is high sulfur. "It gives off large amounts of sulfur dioxide when burned and is generally considered unsuitable unless scrubbers are used to screen out pollutants."

But, he continued, "coal mined in eastern Kentucky and West Virginia is low sulfur in content and clean enough to comply with the new laws. Coal operators in both these states have joined forces with Ohio's power plants to keep EPA from shutting them off from this source of supply."

Lined up on the other side are Ohio's United Mine Workers, the Ohio Mining and Reclamation Association and Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio.

They argue that economic disruption and unemployment will occur if Ohio's utilities continue to buy out-of-state coal to meet air pollution standards.

After Metzenbaum asked EPA to invoke the so-called "local coal" amendment to the Clean Air Act, the agency made a study to see what would occur if it took no action to protect Ohio's coal industry.

EPA claimed that more than 5,000 Ohio mining jobs would be eliminated by 1980; the state would lose $400 million in annual gross product, and coal production would drop by 33.7 percent.

Friedman, the attorney for a Cleveland utility, disputes these conclusions. "The study is riddled with errors. It was supposed to be released last October but didn't surface until December. We weren't allowed to see it before then but, during the interim, EPA leaked bits and pieces to the news media."

He contends that for every ton of coal protected by any EPA order, two tons of coal sales will be lost by Kentucky or West Virginia. "Is it fair to save one Ohio coal miner's job by putting two miners out of work in Kentucky or West Virginia?"

One Kentucky mine already has filed suit to nullify the "local coal" amendment and Friedman predicts there will be others.

EPA is expected to make a decision this month. "If we lose, you will see other states demanding similar monopolies."

He said such proceedings already are under way in Illinois and the Virginia legislature "is considering a bill to require the burning of only Virginia coal by utilities there."

Group Claims State Exemption Policy Holds Tremendous Potential For Abuse

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Members of a citizens environmental group say the state's policy of exempting construction projects from state strip mine laws holds tremendous potential for abuse.

Spokesmen for the Committee for the Preservation of the Rockcastle River asked a legislative committee Tuesday for a thorough investigation of the state Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Department's policy.

It allows developers to remove coal without obtaining a strip-mine permit if the coal is shown to be incidental to a construction project.

Natural Resources Secretary Eugene Mooney said the policy was established to distinguish between bona fide construction projects and those that claim to be construction ventures as a coverup for mining coal.

"If we didn't have this policy, then every venture that encounters coal...must get a strip-mine permit," Mooney told the subcommittee on surface mining of the Interim Joint Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources.

The department has received 82 requests for exemptions and has granted 41, involving the removal of some 1.1 million tons of coal, Mooney said. Twenty-one requests were denied; 20 more are pending.

The department issued a written policy last August but tightened it in December to require more detailed information on each project. Developers must also put up a performance bond to cover estimated reclamation costs for the disturbed area.

Landowners who wish to develop less than two acres for personal use, such as a homestead, do not have to comply with detailed requirements, but only have to request an exemption in writing. The exemption policy applies only where a project involves the removal of more than 250 tons of coal.

Environmentalists took issue with Mooney's assertion that the department has instituted more detailed requirements, saying they have not been enforced.

David Tachau with the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund said he reviewed the department's files and found many cases of noncompliance with new policy guidelines.

Tachau cited the case of Ann

Robinson of Clay County who received an exemption in January for development of a subdivision. He said that actually Hardy Able Coal Co. has contracted with Mrs. Robinson to mine a nine-acre area, and that her file contains little detailed information on the project besides a plan showing the area sectioned into lots.

Roger Blair, director of (strip-mine) permits, said the agency is gradually phasing in its more stringent requirements, and did not apply them retroactively to applications already under consideration.

Blair said state reclamation inspectors are regularly inspecting sites where construction exemptions have been granted.

The state's exemption policy first came under public scrutiny last August after environmentalists alleged that the Black and White Land Development Co. was polluting the Rockcastle River and harming the land under an exemption from state the strip mine law.

Restoration Of Coal Project Funds Supported By Hubbard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Carroll Hubbard, D-Ky., has urged a House subcommittee to push for restoration of $59 million to the federal budget for a coal research project in western Kentucky.

Hubbard called Wednesday for restoration of those funds for a solvent refined coal demonstration project proposed for a site near Newman in Daviess County, as well as restoration of $48 million for a similar plant proposed for the Morgantown, W.Va., area.

The funds were not included in President Carter's proposed budget for fiscal 1980, which begins Oct. 1.

Hubbard appeared before the House Science and Technology Committee's subcommittee on energy development and applications.

He said development of the proposed demonstration plant in western Kentucky would employ 800 workers, with an annual payroll of $17 million in increased annual payroll for 800 workers, according to figures from Southern Co. Services and Wheelabrator Cleanfuel Corp., the developers.

The developers estimate that the plant would employ 2,800 workers with an annual payroll of about $62 million if expanded to commercial size, as proposed, by the late 1980s, he said.

Hubbard said that more than 1,200 western Kentucky coal miners have been "definitely laid off because of reduced demand for high-sulfur coal."

Cash Rebates up to $2000 and more

Order your New Wickes Building now and get a big Cash Rebate!

Now is a good time to buy a building. There's more time for reviewing needs and planning carefully so you can be sure your building is exactly what you want to meet your requirements. It's a good time, too, to take advantage of off-season savings, as well as protect yourself against higher prices sure to come along during the busy season.

Get extra cash for immediate needs. Depending on the building you buy, we'll send you a cash rebate of $200.00 to $2,000.00 or more, as soon as it's completed. No strings, no minimum or maximum purchase required. Handy extra cash for many things—a winter vacation, helping with year-end bills, or something else you've got in mind.

CALL TODAY

Peace Treaty To Cost U.S. About $5 Billion

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter estimates an Egyptian-Israeli treaty will cost American taxpayers about $5 billion. Key members of Congress say that's a small price to pay for peace.

Both Republicans and Democrats said Wednesday they foresee little trouble in approving new military and economic aid requests associated with the treaty.

Carter, who planned to begin a long weekend at Camp David today, briefed about 50 members of the Senate and House on his peace mission Wednesday at the White House.

Afterward, Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said, "We are talking about something in the range of four to five billion dollars" in U.S. aid over the next three or four years.

Carter was deliberately vague in his estimates to the legislators, stressing that costs could go up if, for example, oil-rich Saudi Arabia withdraws its military aid to Egypt to punish it for signing a treaty with Israel.

Military aid under the treaty is now estimated to cost the United States about $4 billion, divided about equally between Israel and Egypt. There would be an additional $1 billion in economic aid to bolster Egypt's relatively backward economy.

"I think it's worth it," Baker said. "I think if this is a fair estimate of cost it's a good buy."

One participant in the briefing, who requested anonymity, said Congress would not be asked to approve the bulk of the aid package until 1981 and 1982.

Baker and others said the United States made neither a commitment to a defense treaty with Israel nor a commitment to use U.S. forces to guarantee that the two nations abide by the treaty.

The Israeli Cabinet approved key sections of the treaty Wednesday and will meet Sunday to vote on the pact as a whole. It must still win approval from the Israeli Parliament, the Knesset, but Israeli political analysts said that was a foregone conclusion.

There were indications the treaty could be signed as early as next week.

Although refusing to discuss cost figures, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the additional aid requests stand "an excellent chance of being approved by Congress."

House Majority Leader James

Wright, D-Texas, said Carter's figures given "were very imprecise," but added that, "within the range that he discussed, for peace on earth, we shouldn't hesitate a minute."

Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., who put the cost at about $4 billion, said, "This is a relatively small price to pay for peace."

Pentagon sources said most of the proposed military aid to Israel would be spent to build two air bases inside Israel to replace Sinai bases being given to Egypt under the treaty.

Military aid to Egypt presumably would go to refurbish its forces with U.S. equipment to replace aging Soviet gear left over from before President Anwar Sadat booted thousands of Russian military advisers.

West Kentucky FFA Chapters Set Contest

More than 400 Future Farmers of America from 17 West Kentucky chapters are expected to participate in the annual Region I Federation Day contests Tuesday, March 20, at Murray State University.

Competitions dealing with 10 categories of chapter activities will begin immediately following a 10 a.m. opening assembly in Lovett Auditorium at which time the group will be welcomed to the campus by Murray State President Constantine W. Curris.

Also extending welcomes will be: Dr. Gary Boggess, dean of the College of Environmental Sciences; Dr. James T. Thompson, chairman of the Department of Agriculture at the university; State FFA President Rodney Cude; and Robert L. Kelly, director of agribusiness education in the Kentucky Department of Education in Frankfort.

Competitions will include public speaking, conducting chapter meetings and creed contests and impromptu speaking contests in the subject areas of beef, swine, dairy and ornamental and production horticulture. A music contest also is scheduled.

Included this year for the first time in the regional contests will be competitions in extemporaneous speaking, according to Dr. Eldon Heathcott, who along with Dr. Lloyd P. Jacks, is a campus coordinator of the event. Both are members of the Murray State agriculture faculty.

With exception of the music contests, which will be held in Lovett Auditorium, all the competitions will be held in the agriculture offices of the Applied Science and Technology Building with final contests beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Chapters expected to be represented include: Sedalia, Carlisle County, Lone Oak, Lowes, Marshall County, North Marshall Junior High, Heath and Fancy Farm.

Also Fulton County, Reidland, Calloway County, Hickman County, South Marshall Junior High, Farmington, Wingo, Symsonia and Ballard Memorial.

Bill Adams, a member of the Lone Oak chapter, is president of the regional federation, while Barry Leonard of Lowes is the vice-president. Tim Johnson, Farmington, is the secretary, and Ricky Cunningham, Calloway County, is the treasurer.

Automakers Say Schedule Could Trigger Disaster

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Major automakers say the government's schedule for boosting car mileage could trigger an economic disaster for the industry and consumers while saving little or no gasoline.

Industry spokesmen told the House Commerce subcommittee on energy Wednesday that they can meet the overall goal of producing cars that average 27.5 miles per gallon by 1985. But they quarreled heatedly with the Transportation Department's step-by-step schedule to meet the target.

The department administers a 1975 statute which established a decade-long goal of doubling auto mileage from the 1974 average of less than 14 mpg. The automakers are on schedule so far, having boosted that figure to about 19 mpg.

But the industry is upset that the department's recently-established schedule for the 1981-85 model years were "front-loaded" — meaning the biggest increases are required early. The program calls for averages of 22 mpg in 1981, 24 mpg in 1982, 26 mpg in 1983, 27 mpg in 1984 and 27.5 in 1985.

"The American automobile industry will invest nearly $80 billion in new plants, tools, equipment and technology" to meet the front-loaded schedule, said S.L. Terry, Chrysler vice president for public affairs.

Terry and other industry spokesmen said the standards should increase by a steady 1.5 mpg annually.

Sen. Donald W. Riegle, D-Mich., testified that the fuel standards as now written would add $590 to the price of a car by 1985.

Changing them to the annual 1.5 mpg increase would trim that figure by around $150 per car for a savings of $1.3 billion to customers, "even after adjusting for the cost of extra gasoline," Riegle said.

Terry said a Chase Manhattan Bank study showed that front-loaded standards would raise the nation's unemployment by 1 per cent by 1984, and could "negatively affect our balance of trade by $5 billion" by forcing the industry to rely more on import sales.

"For that heavy cost, Chase estimates that the country will reduce its annual oil usage at most by three-tenths of 1 per cent," Terry said.

However, Clarence Ditlow, director of the Center for Auto Safety, a consumer group founded by Ralph Nader, said, "Front loading is particularly important because of the projected fuel shortages for 1980 and 1981."

lines to which Israeli troops will fall back as they pull out of the Sinai.

Weizman told reporters before leaving Tel Aviv that the meeting between Israeli and Egyptian military personnel would be the first test of peaceful relations, showing "how we contact each other and prevent mishaps."

Meanwhile, Palestinians fearing their chances for statehood will be eclipsed by the treaty demonstrated in Halhoul and five other towns in the occupied West Bank. Israel Radio said Israeli troops opened fire in Halhoul, killing a 21-year-old Palestinian named Nasri Amani, a 17-year-old schoolgirl named Rabaah Shalateh and wounding one other Palestinian.

The Israeli army had no immediate comment.

It was the second day of demonstrations against the peace treaty in the West Bank. Palestinians closed their businesses in Ramallah on Wednesday, stoned Israeli cars and shut down schools and blocked roads in three other towns. Hundreds of Arabs shouted anti-Israeli slogans as they milled around Jerusalem's Temple Mount, a holy site for both Jews and Moslems, and troops fired into the air to disperse the crowd Wednesday.

The protests erupted after Israel's Cabinet approved the last two compromises proposed by President Carter for the treaty draft. This along with support voice previously by leaders of the opposition Labor Party assured the treaty's approval next week by the Knesset, the Israeli Parliament.

Radio Israel said the Cabinet also told Weizman to discuss U.S. financial aid and political commitments to Israel.

President Anwar Sadat is to submit the treaty to the Egyptian Parliament also, but Sadat's acceptance of it insure parliamentary endorsement.

U.S. congressional leaders briefed by Carter said the pact will cost American taxpayers $4 billion to $5 billion in additional aid to Israel and Egypt. But Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., said there was no U.S. commitment to enter a defense treaty with Israel or use American troops to guarantee that the two nations live up to the peace pact.

A Carter administration official who asked not to be identified also said the peace treaty apparently places no significant new burdens on U.S. energy supplies. Oil was one of two key stumbling blocks holding up the agreement.

Debate Team Here

The New Zealand National Debate Team now touring the United States will be in Murray Monday, March 19, and will participate with two Murray State Debaters in a Public Debate.

The topic will be "Resolved: That this House prefers pornography to censorship."

The debate will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Nursing Building Auditorium.

The New Zealand team will take the affirmative stand against two of Murray State's debaters, Russell Walker and Will Aubrey.

Any person who might have an interest in the sexual attitudes of the society is encouraged to participate and express their opinion, a spokesman said.

Stumping Toward May

This column is designed to report on the activities and positions of the candidates in the various statewide races in this May's primary election. Many of the items mentioned in the column come directly from the candidates or his or her staff.

Court of Appeals Clerk Martha Layne Collins filed today as a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, declaring the office ought to be strengthened.

The 43-year-old Versailles woman also said that her campaign is making steady progress.

"I am not using gimmicks," she said without elaboration.

Four rivals also seek nomination in the May 29 primary.

According to local campaign coordinators Bob Nanney and Betty Bennett, Mrs. Collins will attend a reception at the Holiday Inn in Murray at 7 p.m. Friday.

Bob Bersky of Sturgis announced today he is a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

"I feel that I have a better chance of winning my primary than I did in 1974 against Shirley Palmer-Ball of Jefferson County," he said in a statement. "I have more
